

2,500 Youths Brave the Cold At Pop Festival

Nearly 2,500 youths huddled under blankets last night to escape the cold while the Guess Who and the Chicago Transit Authority rock music groups played on the first night of a 2-day K. C. Pop festival.

At the end of each number the youths leaped to their feet and applauded warmly.

Various young persons milled in and out of the rock event from 4 until midnight last night at the Kansas City International Raceway, 8200 Noland road.

The event, today to be from 2 until 10 o'clock, will include five major groups: The Steve Miller band, the Strawberry Alarm Clock, the Byrds, the Fabulous Flippers and the C. T. A.
